The GED

The Test of General Educational Development (GED) is given monthly on the Athens Campus and quarterly at other locations in Northeast Georgia. The GED exam consists of five tests in the areas of writing skills, social studies, science, reading, and mathematics. The tests are designed to enable people who did not graduate from high school to demonstrate that they have acquired the knowledge and skills usually associated with the completion of a four-year high school program of study. In cases where a test session is listed as 2 days, examinees must attend both sessions to complete the test. Pre-registration is required. Please call one of the numbers below for registration and testing information.
