Carol Stanley Elected President of Georgia Library Association

Carol Stanley, Librarian at Athens Technical College Elbert County Campus, has been elected to serve as the 2009 President of the Georgia Library Association. Currently, GLA has more than 800 members (librarians, trustees, paraprofessionals, friends, and students) representing libraries of all sizes and types, such as school, public, and academic. Members contribute time, hard work, and diverse talents towards developing an understanding of the place that libraries should take in advancing the education, cultural, and economic life of the state and promoting the expansion and improvement of library service leadership in shaping the future of Georgia's libraries.

Ms. Stanley has previously served as Treasurer and Vice President for Membership, and has served on many GLA committees. Carol will be inducted as President at the annual Georgia Library Association conference awards banquet to be held in October at the Classic Center in Athens.

Anyone interested in supporting Georgia's public libraries may do so by applying for the Public Library license plate. Submit your application to your county tag office. The fee is $25 per license plate.
