

ATHENS TECHNICAL COLLEGE

2009-2010 NLN-PN* and NLN-RN REGISTRATION FORM

*NLN-PN is required for all applicants to Medical Assisting, Practical Nursing, and Surgical Technology
NLN-RN is required for all applicants to Associate Degree Nursing

The National League for Nursing Pre-Admission Examination (NLN-PN or NLN-RN) will be administered to Regular Admission applicants of the above programs who have registered in advance for the exam by one of the deadline dates listed on the reverse side. You must have applied to Athens Technical College and have placement test scores (or the equivalent) on file before you can be tested.

If you are not able to take the exam on the date you have scheduled, please be aware that you may forfeit your registration fee, which is not transferable to another date once your reservation has been made and the deadline has passed. The NLN is offered on a reserved-seat basis only. Since we must preorder the exact number of tests needed for each test date scheduled, no last minute arrivals for the NLN are allowed.

If you still have any required learning support classes, do not register for the exam at this time. All learning support courses must be completed before taking the test. In addition, students are encouraged to finish as many of their core classes as possible to improve their chances of success. The NLN Pre-Admission Examination evaluates verbal, math, and science abilities. Students should prepare well for the NLN prior to sitting for the test.

The National League for Nursing recommends that students not be allowed to repeat the NLN Pre-Admission Examination any sooner than six months from the last date of testing. Please consult the college catalog for additional information about retesting and plan to schedule your test accordingly.
